

Patience

10/9/11
Joel
Wingate

Patience is something in karate when you do not ask about rank or rank tests. At tournaments if you lose, always try harder that's the right thing to do. Once you try harder you get better and better and better at whatever you are seriously having trouble on. All you need to have to get a black belt is patience. Going hard really really fast can cause you to mess up because if you do sometimes you can fail your rank test. If you are at a tournament never ever ask what place you are in. You might get banned from that. You may not know things right away. That way you have a better chance of getting your new rank. Before taking a test think if you are ready and if you are not ready you can reschedule it a couple months later. Never ever ask about rank or else he might take your belt away from you and make your better rank test longer to wait. So never ask about rank tests, rank, and promotion. Don't ask about rank.

Discipline

10-5-11
Joel
Wingate

Discipline in karate is when you follow the rules or listen. And sometimes follow the rules from student leaders. And when you behave enough sometimes you can be the star of the week. And sometimes you can be Star of the week more than one time. And who ever is student of the week the most in the year might get student of the year.

Discipline in karate is never get in any fights but if you do you could be able to never go to any karate classes. But if you get in a really large fight and fight against the kids you could never ever be able to go to that karate school ever again. Discipline is also when you take care of property sensei gives you. But if you don't you have to pay for it or you will get in serious trouble. And then your parents will be really really mad at you. You also walk away from any type or kind of fight that's the right thing to do that way no one has to be hurt any type of way.

Humility

10/9/11
Joel
Wingate

Humility in karate is something. When you never show off. If you lose in a fight always have a good attitude. And always congratulate the winner of the fight. That is showing tons and tons of good attitude. Humility is when you never ever show off. That is the bad thing to do, showing off. That's never ever good. Do not ever show off because you have a better rank than he or she. Remember your at your dojo to learn not to brag about your belt that is just wrong. Always know your strengths and your weaknesses. Never ever use karate on other students or other people you could be ^{if fight starting} ~~punished~~ from that dojo. That would be the wrong thing to do. The right thing to do is to use karate for rank tests, classes, and fitness, and for training at home, and studying at home for new rank or for short A new belt. Understand that you are at your dojo to learn. That you don't know everything and will never ever know everything. Never ever make fun of someone who is a really really lower Rank than you that is not good to do.